Job Responsibilities

This position is accountable for developing, managing, and monitoring the department's annual highway improvement program.

Annual program size: $3.0 - $5.0 billion

This position reports to the Bureau Chief of Programming. Reporting to this position are the Program Implementation Unit Chief and Program Monitoring and Reports Unit Chief.

This position is the department's central point in developing and managing the state's annual highway improvement program. Based on information furnished by the Office of Finance and Administration (OFA), this position drafts the department's annual highway construction budget appropriations, by district, for the annual highway program and identifies issues and options for consideration of departmental executives. This position develops the executive summary for the annual program and performs general oversight and control of implementing the annual highway program which includes monitoring program implementation, preparing management reports, developing appropriations for the carryover exercise, and processing program revisions. This position develops the federal local marks for the Central Bureau of Local Roads and Streets (CBLRS) in the Office of Highways and Project Implementation (OHPI). Throughout the year, this position coordinates with CBLRS to ensure the goals of the annual highway improvement program are being met. This position monitors the district appropriations compared to the remaining program and assigns appropriations to projects when requested. The incumbent should become thoroughly familiar with the Program Planning System (PPS) and Fiscal Operations and Administration (FOA) computer systems, problems, and operating concerns of the Office of Planning and Programming's (OPP) plans, policies, and programs. This position should be familiar with the operating capabilities of the department and the capacity of the construction and transportation equipment industry to affect the proposed program within departmental resources, consistent with the Office of the Governor's policies that are acceptable to the General Assembly and serves the public at large.

The major challenge in this position is to manage the annual highway program to attain program goals while considering numerous unpredictable and usually negative and emerging priorities, reoriented federal programs, declining revenues, and a myriad of other factors that impact those goals.

The incumbent draws upon a comprehensive knowledge of federal and state financing capabilities to carry out the annual program within the realities and urgencies of immediate policy considerations, objectives, financial constraints, and governmental decisions. When highway programs are funded by bond program initiatives, the incumbent manages the bond release requests to the Governor's Office of Management and Budget (GOMB) and oversees the monitoring of projects that use the bond appropriations through completion of projects. The incumbent develops and implements procedures for maintaining a responsive and accurate program monitoring system. As most of the projects are federally funded, the incumbent manages amendments and modifications to the Statewide Transportation Improvement Program (STIP), when necessary, to show that the department is fiscally constrained. The incumbent plans, staffs, organizes, directs, and controls the Program Management Section's operations to meet the schedule for delivery of the annual highway program and the highway capital budget. The incumbent maintains up-to-date knowledge of operations and committed financial obligations affecting the department's program. The incumbent prepares program information for the Director of OPP, Secretary of Transportation, Governor, and legislature regarding all allocations and programming requirements affecting the development of the annual program. The incumbent represents the OPP on a wide array of departmental meetings and/or committees. The incumbent presents recommendations to the Bureau Chief of Programming concerning the budget and staffing requirements. The incumbent trains, motivates, and evaluates personnel to ensure effective and efficient accomplishment of the Program Management Section's accountabilities.

Accountabilities are accomplished through the following staff:

Program Implementation Unit Chief who is accountable for assisting in the development and publishing of the annual highway program including the evaluation of proposed projects. The incumbent reviews and processes daily program revisions from the district programming offices and CBLRS and oversees the review of all local joint agreements for annual highway programmed projects to ensure the projects are included in the annual program. The incumbent also oversees bond releases and monitors the district's annual program allocations to ensure the program is balanced within the budget approved by the General Assembly and program funding options are identified for consideration by executive management.

Program Monitoring and Reports Unit Chief who is accountable for monitoring the annual highway program accomplishments in the PPS and developing the For The Record (FTR) publication that is mandated by law. The incumbent manages the consultant engineering program and engineering appropriations. The incumbent coordinates with other bureaus to confirm projects are programmed to be advertised for letting, and monitors all project award and obligation information on all annual highway program projects for accuracy to report program accomplishments in the FTR and other project inquiries received through the year from internal and external sources. The incumbent prepares the internet reports and final version of the annual highway program.

The incumbent has wide latitude in developing and managing the annual elements of the department's STIP. The incumbent evaluates the annual program projects proposed in the multi-year program for compliance with programming guidelines and criteria. The incumbent has authority to select projects for the annual program based upon multi-year programming priorities and annual programming and budgetary constraints. The incumbent is constrained by all applicable departmental, state, and federal policies and regulations.

Frequent internal contacts are with the Director of OPP, directors, district program engineers, bureau chiefs for the OHPI and Intermodal Project Implementation (IPI), and financial staff of the OFA. External contacts are with the Illinois Division of the Federal Highway Administration, other federal, state, and local agencies and the GOMB. Occasional statewide travel with overnight stays is required.

The effectiveness of this position is measured by the accomplishment of the annual highway programs toward achieving state objectives.
